COVER LETTER

Dear Sir/Madam

5 June 2016

I am an aspiring UX designer and researcher based in Scotland. I am originally from San Francisco, where I worked in content at Yelp for over two years. I am currently completing a masters in Computer Science focused on Human-Computer Interaction at the University of St Andrews. I have decided to stay in Europe after my programme finishes in August 2016 to build my skills and lend my talents abroad.

The opportunity at Caroobi is suited to my interests because I am interested in both the research and design of user experiences and interfaces.

Much of the work during my studies has been researching and prototyping a hyperlocal e-commerce app called Peruse. I was placed on a team and matched with a client wishing to implement the app concept. We conducted user research, followed by a period of sketching and wireframing, and later refined our ideas into high-fidelity prototypes. My designs for Peruse are on my portfolio (stephdunn.me).

Furthermore, I am interested in working on web and mobile products. My degree has been spent understanding product requirements and transforming them into beautiful user experiences. I am currently completing my dissertation with a mental health startup called Ginger.io. I will be researching and designing an app for their care providers. I believe this client experience will better suit me for consideration at Caroobi.

I am an exceptionally quick learner and I work incredibly hard. My work experience reflects my work ethic, and my portfolio reflects my skill and savviness.

Sincerely,

Steph Dunn
